Bernoulli is a brand new quarterly journal that explores in unprecedented depth the theory and practice of road and race car aerodynamics. Its incisive content includes road and race car aero design and development studies and insights into wind tunnel design and operation, the use of CFD and on-track aero testing techniques. Bernoulli is essential reading for all those involved in the operation of wind tunnels, wind tunnel developers and suppliers of rolling roads, instrumentation and flow visualization technology. It is equally vital for model makers and testing service providers and for suppliers of CFD software and design and manufacturing software.

Race Tech magazine is the best source of racing technical information. Published monthly, Race Tech covers all forms of racing from Formula One to Formula Ford, from the Indy Racing League to USAC Midgets, from Le Mans to production racing cars.
